Message #1 (after Saturday, April 25):

Mark Your Calendars – Saturday, May 9

We're [I'm] proud to support the Stamp Out Hunger Food Drive benefiting Island Harvest Food Bank and invite you to join us [me] – right from your home!

Right now, 1 in 13 Long Islanders doesn't know where their next meal is coming from. Together, we can help our community by each giving a little to make a big impact.

 When you shop this week, consider picking up an extra non-perishable item or two, or pull from your pantry.

 Then simply leave donations by your mailbox on Saturday, May 9 by 9am. Your letter carrier will collect them for @IslandHarvest.

Suggested items include canned goods, pasta, rice, nut butters, toiletries, and household products.

Fill pantry shelves. Help end hunger on Long Island.

Message #3 (Friday, May 8, the day before):

TOMORROW — Don't forget

It's the Stamp Out Hunger Food Drive benefiting Island Harvest Food Bank, and invite you to join us [me] tomorrow, Saturday, May 9, right from your home!

With 1 in 13 Long Islanders unsure where their next meal is coming from, this effort is a simple way we can all help make a difference.

 Consider adding a few non-perishable items to your shopping or contributing from your pantry.

 Place donations by your mailbox tomorrow before 9am – your letter carrier will collect them for @IslandHarvest.

Suggested items include canned goods, pasta, rice, nut butters, toiletries, and household products.

A small act can help fill many pantry shelves.
